Bard is a class added by Thorium Mod in 1.4.0.0. The weapons, armor and accessories class of Bard are focused on providing short, stat-improving capabilities while at the same time dealing with symphonic damage. While the Bard buffs himself during combat, more benefits can be found through teamwork; Empowerment is also available to friendly players standing next to the Bard, so they are a great addition to the multiplayer scenario. The Bard class is pretty much designed, with content distributed throughout the game. This includes 9 sets of armor, 56 accessories, 29 buffs and 107 items. Mechanics Edit Source Inspiration (Edit The Source of Editing) Main Article: Inspiration Instead of Using Mana, Bard Arms is extracted from a unique resource called Inspiration, which is increased by Inspiration Fragments, Inspiration Shards, and Inspiration Crystals. Inspiration is restored automatically. While many Bard elements are specific for inspiration, the fact that it is separated from Mana makes it an enticing choice to back up another class. Symphony Damage (edited by editing source) The Musical Weapon of the Bard struck with a certain type of damage called symphonic damage. Accessories and armor can be used to increase symphonic exit damage, and general damage buffs, such as one from the Scuba Curva, continue to increase the damage to the Bard. Large tools to edit the source Big tools are a subset of bard weapons that use synchronization mechanics. When you're scrolling, the timer will appear under the player (or under the cursor if the Move Instrument Timer to Mouse configuration is correct); Tool effects vary depending on whether their attacks are used over a certain window or not. As the player successfully once their attack, a large instrument will gain power, a secured level of empowerment, along with other effects, whereas passing time will significantly reduce these bonuses. Each tool category, with the exception of Electronic, has its own unique timer, with different patterns: While a large tool is held for the first time, a mouse icon will appear in order to provide a guide to each timer's function.
